CAUTION.—We beg leave to caution purchasers of our choice OLD MONONGAHELA WHISKIES against the deception and petty fraud which is practiced by certain parties in this city and in Baltimore, who have appropriated to themselves exact copies of the Star Brands, long used and designed by us to distinguish our Old Whiskeys. We can assure our friends and customers, that the unrivalled quality, everywhere acknowledged, of our choice OLD WHISKIES, cannot be equalled by these ingenious invaders of our rights.

Our new establishment, GIBSONTON MILLS, of the Monongahela River, gives as unequalled facili ties for making Whiskey of the choicest kind, from malted and kiln-dried grain.

Purchasers of our Old Whiskies will please to notice, the words GIRSONTON MILLS and JOHN GIRson, Sons & Co., are inserted in the new Brands which we now adopt; and we deem it a duty to our customers and ourselves, to give notice, that we will prosecute and expose any person or persons who may hereafter copy or use our Brands.

LITTLE EM .- BY LARRY INE. I know a gentle little maid, Who lives a pace from me, With bonny eyes of softest blue, And laugh of joyous glee; The richest beams of fancy play Around her forehead fair, And golden streams of April's sun, Are mingled with her hair.

Her face has caught the ruddy shade, Of twilight's deep'ning glow, And thoughts that speak a higher strain,

Up from her bosom flow: And many are the blithesome smiles, That bask beneath her cheek, And musical the tiny sounds, That mark her prattling feet.

She cares not for the joyous crowd, Nor for their boisterous glee, But loves to wander mid the fields, A child of nature, free: Go linger mid the mossy fern, Go pluck the blossoms bright, Go breathe the air that fans the streams,

Are little Em's delight. And oft along our quiet shore, Her merry voice I hear, And like the breath of summer wind, It falls upon my ear: It falls us does the tender moon, Upon the restless wave, When 'neath its silver tissued breast,

Her slanting shadows bathe. Far through the dusky cypress boughs, The evening zephyrs bring, Some song of sweetest melody, Upon their dewy wing! Some song that fills the heart with joy, And bids the souls of men,

Look upward to a brighter sphere. And bless the little Em. When night enfolds with misty light, The living and the dead, And when the wings of peaceful sleep, Her pinions o'er me spread, When vivid dreams of joy imbue,

And lull my slumbers, then Methinks I view the fairy form, Of gentle little Em! Clarke County, Virginia, 1859.

THE WOMEN OF CAPRI, ITALY. Its women, says Miss Kavanagh, are, after all, the most beautiful piece of antiquity which Capri possesses. Truly the blood of the Greek has come down to them undefiled. I never saw in all Italy, such lovely creatures. They are tall and stately, yet exquisitely graceful with pure oval faces, dark eyes, soft and 10 downcast, and a sweet dignity in their aspect and their bearing that made them look to me like so many virgin queens. I could not rdered, on receipt of which they will be forwarded think with patience of the comments I had heard on the so-called mesalliance of the two English gentlemen who married Capri girls. Women like those we saw are ladies, for their beauty is not mere beauty of form and color. it is the perfection of womanhood. They may be peasants, they may be ignorant, but THE Remember that every Prize is drawn and rude or vulgar they cannot be, with such noble, intellectual faces. Was Nausica the less a princess for washing her father's linen? For my part, I looked at them and became a sudden convert to the theory of races. I had already seen, two years before, Agrippina, Faustina, Messalina, and other Roman empresses, revived, under the aspect of Roman girls; but here before me were the daughters of an earlier and a nobler race than the Roenclosed in a "Government Post Office Stamped En- man.
